SINGLE-DOSE SACHET

Convenience and strategy

SINGLE-DOSE SACHET.

Even in the digital age, giving out or delivering something that can be used beyond the virtual world is always an effective sales tool.
For example, in the cosmetics market, product samples are one of the main means for choosing: they enable people to test the product before buying it.

The Aro Group has developed single-dose sachets for this purpose.
They are sachets made of no-stick, printed, laminated weldable material, which can contain a small quantity of the product or a gadget, so that it can be carried in a convenient and protected way.
