SEAL LABEL

The opening and tampering indicator.

SEAL LABEL.

Food products, especially in large-scale retail stores, where they are placed on shelves and exposed within everybody's reach, must ensure they are safe and intact.
A product that clearly shows that the original condition of the packaging is maintained means greater safety for consumers.

The Aro Group's seal label immediately and effectively indicates whether the packaging has been tampered with or opened illegally. It is a label made of defibered materials, small in size and with a permanent adhesive: this seal label is applied in the opening area of the packaging and tears when the product is opened. This makes it easy to find out if a packaging has been opened.

The seal label is the ideal solution for glass jars, such as those for preserves, where it can be applied across the cap and the container.
