"WARNING" LABEL

Information and safety.

"WARNING" LABEL.

Increasingly complex machines require tools that provide ready, reliable and accurate information and warning. Properly informing the users of a machine about its use and warning them of the consequential dangers is becoming more and more important.

The Aro Group provides "warning" labels for this requirement, which are printed on durable and conformable materials: these labels bear the information and warnings about the use of a specific machine.
These labels are printed on the back of polycarbonates or PET so that they are indelible and last over time.
